

EUROPEAN PAIN FEDERATION EFIC® - Fondazione IBSA- Publication Award 2014

Sponsored by Fondazione IBSA for Scientific Research, Switzerland.

One award of € 2,500.- to a young first author of an excellent original article in the areas of Pain Research or Pain Medicine published in an international peer-reviewed journal in 2013.

Eligibility

- Applicant is first author¹ of a publication from a non-commercial institution (university, public research institute, hospital, etc.) in the area of pain research or pain medicine.
- The paper must be published (in press or online) in an international peer-reviewed journal in 2013.
- Applicant is under 40 years of age at the date of acceptance of the article by the journal.
- Applicant's professional affiliation is in a European country.
- Submission of the signed application and a PDF copy of the paper to EFIC® Headquarters Office by 15th March, 2014.

Evaluation

- The jury is the EFIC® Committee on Research² as of March 2014
- The successful candidate will be notified in April 2014
- The decision is final and not subject to appeal.

Application details

- Nominations are invited from individual authors, institutions or groups.
- Nomination must include a Nomination Letter, a reprint or pdf-file of the respective article, and a short Curriculum Vitae of the candidate including a complete bibliography.
- If not yet published by the application deadline, a certified copy of the letter of acceptance from the Editor of the respective journal must be submitted.

The documents, together with a covering letter, should be submitted not later than by 15th March 2014 (date as per postmark) by email or mail to:

European Pain Federation EFIC® - secretary@efic.org
Grensstraat 7, mailbox 3
1831 DIEGEM
Belgium

The award winner is expected to attend the Dinner and the Awarding Ceremony during the European Pain Federation EFIC[®] Council Meeting at Brussels, Belgium 25th-26th May, 2014³.

¹ The award can be split between equally contributing first authors, but only one of the authors is invited to the Awarding Ceremony in Brussels.

² Chair: Prof. Dr. Martin Koltzenburg (London, UK) - m.koltzenburg@ucl.ac.uk.

³ Travel costs of up to € 750,- and one-night accommodation will be covered for the award winner by EFIC[®].